Yagashala opportunity

The importance of lord Agni within us.

Yoga is part of the temple pooja rituals

Also known as Yagna, it is the spirit of doing service to others

In fact, havan is performed as a ritual for the benefit of the society.

Haven or Homam is part of our Hindu scriptures

Agni (fire) is the king and the head of the Pancha bhootas

(five elements: fire, wind, sky, water, earth)

Agni, vayu, akash, jal, prithvi

So, from birth to the end of our life lord Agni is within us

Agni is the embodiment of the fire which consumes the offerings to our gods, so, he is seen as the mediator between the heaven and the earth.

A fire is ignited in a havan-kund - in that fire, pure ghee is used which has two functions - one to blaze the fire and the other to convert the ghee into a micro form of universal benefit and purify the air.

We have a real need for building a yagashala in our temple complex.

Homam takes place on a daily basis giving donors mahapunyam for donating towards this yagashala. In fact, you are providing the shelter for others to perform in their home.

By sponsoring the yagashala, you will get blessings from Agni dev and you will be invited to be part of the opening as a yajman receiving great blessings.

If you wish to contribute, the amount is £1001.00

You can also pay over a year in 12 payments of £84.00 a month through a standing order.

The donation should come from the heart and if you wish to donate, but need help on payment arrangement please do not hesitate to contact the temple office 0121 544 2256.

We are here to help.
